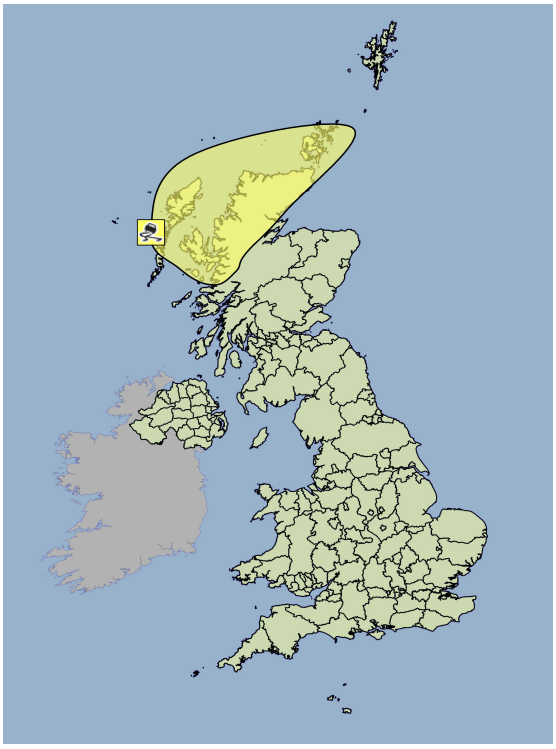
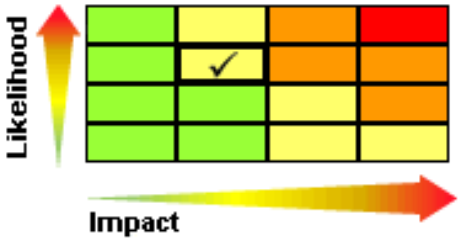
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Light winds and clear periods will allow temperatures to fall quickly below freezing on Wednesday evening. This will lead to a risk of ice forming on untreated surfaces, especially where wintry showers occur.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 15:00 on Wed, 13th Jan 2016 until 11:00 on Thu, 14th Jan 2016

Frost will develop widely after dark on Wednesday evening and last well into Thursday morning. With some wintry showers continuing, please be aware this will lead to a risk of icy stretches on untreated surfaces, as well as some mainly slight accumulations of snow.
